

"SNOW WHITE AND THE DWARFS."

A large audience assembled in the Temperance Hall last evening to witness the juvenile operetta, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" in aid of the Temperance Hall Free Library. The principal part—that of Princess Snow White—was taken by Miss Irene Wharton, whilst the other characters were:—Queen, Miss Elsie Davey; Prince, Mr. F. Warne; Carl the Huntsman, Mr. J. Hughes; Arbustus, Miss Flossie Coombes; Daffodil, Miss Ethel Clayton; Ivy, Miss Ella Manning; and Violet, Miss Dolly Brown. Misses Florrie Jones and Sylvia Symonds rendered vocal items. Numerous others characters, such as dwarfs, forest children, etc., were ably sustained. Much praise is due to Messrs. F. Warne and J. Hughes, who worked hard to make the affair the success that it was. All the expenses connected with the production were borne by the performers themselves. The proceeds will be devoted to the library funds.

THE WINNER OF THE CUP.—The man who wins a contest is admired by enthusiastic friends. He has worked hard to attain superior power, and deserves applause; but he alone knows what suffering the effort has cost him. Many a winner gives the credit of his success to Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The ceaseless training he undergoes brings stiffness and soreness of muscles and often sprains and swellings. One application of this remedy gives immediate relief, and for cuts and bruises has no equal. It is the favorite liniment among prominent athletes. For sale by all dealers. H. M. Leggo and Co., wholesale agents.
